“TIS THE SEASON” .

There are two matches scheduled for Sunday after Church and Prayer Meetings.

The two p.m. match will be Bill Green and Fran Mertins engaging Peter Lazenby and the notorious Frances Rockey.

The following conflict will be Bill Carlson and Carole (with an “e”) Green fighting furiously hard against Hy (The Young Man) Siegel and his partner Melly Rosen.

Mondays Hanky Panky scheduled for 2 p.m. is Charlie Mayrs, The Judge Arthur look alike, and Ellie Naden fighting the quiet George McDowell and the silent Betty O’Connell.

The Judgeless Arthur Broder and the “perky” Jane McDowell then play at 3 p.m. the unopinionated Scotty Smith and the animated Mary Lou Turner.

After the other two matches Frank Draheim (New Player) and Chic Smith play Les (Hard to Find) Howatt and Jan Brakovec.

Don’t forget the Valentines Parties on Tuesday—the first one in the Library at two p.m.—Girls wear your Red or Pink Hats.

Those of you who have not paid your dollar entry fee to Sally or Fran by Sunday noon will be reported with disdain and by name in the Sunday evening edition of the underground newsletter.

Next year we need Sid to play—Just point him in the right direction—let him fire!.

Needed are another set of pucks and two more sticks. Someone needs to say something to the Big man on Campus.

Scotty was giving lessons on which end of the stick to use when moving the pucks. Lessons will be early February 29th. Scotty sure knows which end is up.

Judge Lou was caught bugging the Scorekeeper by blowing a bug on Mary Lou

Editorial License was questioned by Judge Lou but was ignored by the Publisher under the Freedom of Information Act KEL Number 394. Only the contents may be controversial but always tasteful.

The winner of the 2 p.m. Saturday Match was Don Powell and Lynn Carlson 106 to 36 over Gene Jones and Pinkie Stolz. Congratulations to Sheery who got a birdie on the 14th hole on the North Course yesterday. She’s a dead shot.

There was a record crowd this year of 77 at the games.

The last match of the day was won by Dean Rocky and Jan Brakovech by 110 to 85 over Sigi Franiek and Sherry Vandersnick, It was noticed that when Sherry’s puck landed on a 10 she looked down the front of her shirt and exclaimed “A Perfect 10”.

That’s all folks.

Keep Smiling.
